EDITOR'S PERSPECTIVE

Hey there,

We as an Association proudly claim over Four Thousand members across the Country - an impressive number. Yet when it comes to active participation, the silence is deafening. Only a fraction are truly engaged with the vibrant heartbeat of our Association.

Some clubs shine with a purpose- Organising, Engaging, Serving and Connecting. Others however remain confined within their city limits totally disconnected from the larger National Vision.

41 India is built on the legacy of Friendship, Leadership and Community Service, it's high time we rekindle that spirit. Let your voice resonate in conversations that matter and Let your actions reflect the spirit of our Aims and Objectives.

Every National initiative, every Project, every Gathering offers an opportunity to members to bond to grow and to give back. It's time to invest in our Association and become active stakeholders in shaping our collective future. Let your voice be heard in rooms that shape our future. Let your actions reflect not just affiliations but commitments. We are not just individual Clubs but an Association...We are a Movement.

President's Message

Dear 41ers,

What a phenomenal journey it has been so far — vibrant, purposeful, and deeply fulfilling. I am proud to share that our Association has been buzzing with activity, emotion, and energy across all corners of India.

All Mid-Term Meetings across the Areas were conducted with precision, passion, and perfect camaraderie. Each MTM not only showcased the strength of local leadership but also underlined our national spirit — where fun meets fraternity and planning meets purpose.

In the field of Freedom Through Education (FTDE), we've witnessed truly heartwarming moments. Surat 104 reached the heart of the forest to uplift a school, touching lives where hope was scarce. This effort inspired an incredible promise — support for 1,000 schools by Jeevan Foundation. Erode 63 added joy to learning with the donation of smart TVs, and in Bangalore, yet another meaningful FTDE project reaffirmed our commitment to education as a path to equality.

Howzzat, our national cricket tournament, brought together five Areas in hot and happening Chennai — filled with sportsmanship, laughter, and unforgettable moments. It wasn't just about cricket; it was about connection.

The soulful and vibrant SURSANGAM karaoke competition brought out the rockstars in us — showcasing talent, rhythm, and sheer 41er energy. Hats off to Club 243 for a musical evening to remember.

Our NEX Board Meeting at Raipur saw constructive discussions, fresh ideas, and strong fellowship — a true reflection of the direction we're heading as a team.

Club extensions in Bilaspur and Chennai proved that the 41 spirit is spreading, with enthusiastic members stepping up to carry our legacy forward.

On a personal note, my travels across the country — attending club meetings, meeting members and their families — have been truly enriching. From North to South, the languages may differ, the cultures may vary, but the warmth, the laughter, and the love for 41 remain the same. Whether in small towns or metro cities, the spirit of celebration, connection, and good-old 41-style partying unites us all.

And now, all eyes are on Iceland, where over 100 41ers and Tangents will represent India at the International AGM — a moment made even more special as our very own Dr. Sid takes over as the International President. A proud and historic milestone for 41 India!

Together, let's continue spreading joy, serving with heart, and celebrating the spirit of 41. ■

Secy's Ping

It has been an absolute delight to witness the vibrant energy and flawless execution of the Mid-Term Meets held across the country. Each event was a beautiful blend of camaraderie, creativity, and the unwavering spirit of 41 India.

From the well-orchestrated Area 7 MTM in Vijayawada to the power-packed gathering of 185+ members at Area 3's Bangalore meet, the enthusiasm was truly electric. Area 1's meet in Erode was warm and engaging with a FTDE project tucked in, while Area 2 raised the bar with a unique combo of their MTM and the spirited Howzzat Cricket Tournament. The NEX & Area 4 MTM in Raipur dazzled with a one-of-a-kind Pod Talk – a real innovation highlight!

I did miss out on the fun and fellowship at Area 6 (Kolkata), Area 8 (Cochin), Area 5 (Agra), and Area 9 (Khajuraho) – and trust me, the FOMO is real! But I'll definitely make up for it in style soon.

Have always believed in "Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much." Grateful to all hosts for their warmth and meticulous planning.

Now, the countdown begins for Iceland – where history and pride await! ■

Proud of you Guys

Heart of Gold

Dear Friends,

I am writing this article to share with you my experiences and alignment towards doing social service for the betterment of Mankind. At a young age of 25 I started my journey as a tabler 35 years ago in 1990 and continued the same as a 41er thereafter.

I was a member of RT 2 Mumbai and clearly remember my very first project visit to 'The home for the mentally challenged at Mankhurd' which was a government run organization. That was the turning point in my life and drove me to do whatever best I could for the underprivileged. For the very first time I was made aware of how privileged I was to be born normal and enjoy the benefits that life threw my way and here there was a group of over 200 children who were not only mentally challenged but were also huddled in small rooms beyond capacity and totally dependent on someone to not only take care of them but also to provide them with meals. This sight moved me and touched me and at that young age I decided that I am going to do my best to support this institution. Every time we did a project the warmth, smile on the faces of the children made me feel so happy and warm from within.

Through my table many a project we did at this institution besides sponsoring daily meals for the children we built more rooms, provided the institute with a dental clinic, celebrated all festivals with the inmates etc. This surely was a turning point in my life and drove me towards contributing and doing projects for the betterment of mankind.

Over the years first as a tabler and then as a 41er I have been driven towards projects and tried to do my best that I can for the betterment of the society. Be it Right to learn, Freedom through education, SYJ (Share your Joy), Freedom through digital education etc.

As a President of 41 India I remember that I had visited a project of club 116 in Bangalore called SYJ (Share your Joy). I was so amazed at the project specially when small things brought about a big smile on the faces of children that I decided to adopt it as a national project for 41 India. We raised a lot of money and did many projects that year. Glad to see that presidents who followed me continued with the same project.

This year I am supporting the Tangent India initiative of Project Jyoti Drishyam where in with the help of AI (Artificial Intelligence) we are giving better vision to the visually impaired. We started with a target of 100 people and am happy to say that we have crossed over 250 and are looking towards at least 500 by the end of the year. The cost of the project is Rs 14,000 for which the club must contribute 50% that is Rs 7000 only, rest is sponsored by me through Tangent India. I would urge more of you to come forward and support this noble cause. In case you need any details do contact me.

Finally, I would like to say that yes my life has changed dramatically. God has been kind to me and my family and yes given me enough. I choose to share the enough for the betterment of society and share my Privilege with the under privileged.

Looking forward to meeting up with you all soon. ■

NEX at Raipur

The two-night, three-day extravaganza was nothing short of legendary – an unforgettable celebration that raised the bar for all future gatherings! The meticulously orchestrated NEX, in perfect synergy with Area 4’s MTM YAARIYAN, was not only informative but truly impactful, sparking meaningful discussions and productive outcomes. The grand milestone of chartering the Bilaspur club added a sense of pride and purpose to the occasion. The flawlessly executed MTM stood out as a benchmark event – a masterclass in precision, planning, and presentation.

The dazzling podcast captured the essence of our vibrant organization, leaving everyone inspired and proud. From the enchanting Sufi night that stirred souls, to the melodious musical afternoon with a sumptuous lunch, and finally, the glitzy Bollywood night bursting with energy and glamour – every event sparkled with brilliance. The hospitality was warm, personal, and beyond generous – making us feel cherished. A spectacular celebration, executed with finesse and flair!

Howzaat in Chennai

Five fiery Areas came together like butter on hot parathas – sizzling with spirit and soaked in sweat, but smiling from stump to stump! The sixes flew higher than petrol prices and the catches were taken like a mother-in-law catching a lie – with precision and passion! The balls flew, the bats danced, and the fielders ran like they were being chased by Chennai's traffic police!

The players came in all shapes and sizes – from six-packs to family packs – all glowing in fluorescent t-shirts that could be spotted from Mars! And thanks to #CricHeroes, the live ball-to-ball updates were smoother than a batsman's cover drive – 41ers, Tangents and armchair critics could cheer from anywhere in the world!

Chennai's sun was so hot even the cricket balls were sweating. But the 41ers? Arrey, they were cooler than curd rice at an A/C wedding hall! Bananas n Oranges flew faster than bouncers, and energy drinks were gulped like golgappas. The Organisers Apoorva and Vinay were the Dhoni and Kohli of coordination – calm under pressure and

O ye balle balle! What a tournament, what a tamasha, what a toofan of talent! Howzaat in Chennai was not a cricket tournament, it was a 41ers IPL with a heart and a heatwave– hotter than a pressure cooker on full flame and more thrilling than a Punjabi wedding in a tornado!

on top of every detail, they were magicians with matchsticks, lighting up the event with flair, fun and full-on josh!

Area 2 took home the trophy – lifting it like Bahubali lifted the Shivalinga .

The trophy, mind you, is no ordinary cup. It's a tribute – a glowing salute to our founder, Indu Chandhok ji, the man who bowled us over long before this pitch was even laid!

This wasn't just cricket – it was a dhol, a dance and a doosra all rolled into one. Howzaat was full toss entertainment, with a googly of rules.

Cricket won, friendship won, and so did a few waistlines – thanks to running in the Chennai heat!

Next stop – Coimbatore! The battleground shifts but the banter continues! ■

Sur Sangam

A 41 India National Karaoke Competition

SUR SANGAM born on the 12th April 2025 went down in the pages of history taking with it a night to remember for a very long time down nostalgia lane. For Wizards 263 and tangents 43 music wasn't just a refuge, it was a transient satisfaction camouflaging a larger picture to raise funds for FTDE.

As per APJ this was the dream that couldn't let me sleep, making it clear during my installation as chairman at Chikmagalur that we would have an area karaoke competition later turned into a national event with guidance of national president Pankaj Vats. With the storm of having this scale of an event, 263 held onto the sails with all the might to pull through and get to calm waters amidst apprehensions of being drowned with less support in the audience seats and feeble support of participant singers. As we approached the event day, slowly all the members loosened their crossed fingers as the categories started filling up with entries from far and near, with area 41ers confirming their presence and with stalwarts in the movement standing rock solid in their support, confidence mounted, so did snowball the funding for the event and charity giving us a heartfelt grip to surge ahead. The venue was tailormade and so were the bytes which came in for audition, it was hard to refuse a single entry as all were par excellence.

They were not wrong when they said that music can calm the agitations of the soul as SUR SANGAM stood testimony to this fact as that evening washed away all panic and gave us a night to remember with the awesome aura that created magic to the saga it wrote for nostalgia to store. Electrifying was an understatement to be cherished when the singers unleashed their all to give the professional competence that the event truly deserved. There were no panic buttons to be pressed as the sangam truly mesmerized the ears and judges alike. We couldn't have asked for a better evening ...agree area 3? ■

SUR SANGAM churned out the melomaniacs in us to prove that music is the ultimate bliss.

This project didn't just deliver tools — it delivered hope, vision, and a promise of a brighter tomorrow.

A powerful partnership, a purpose-driven project, and a legacy that will echo through corridors of learning for years to come.

Another Feather in Area 4's Cap: FTDE Project by Surat 104 In a truly inspiring feat, Surat Club 104 completed its 50th Freedom Through Education (FTDE) project in one of the remotest tribal belts of Area 4 — where even Jio hasn't reached, but the 41ers did! With support from Jeevan Foundation Charitable Trust, the Rajgahria Family, and 41 India, the team executed two heartwarming inaugurations at Balda Kamthi Faliya School and Shree Ram Ashram, marked by soulful Swagat Vandana and Sundar Kand recitals.

Dignitaries including MLA Arvind Patel and President 41 India Pankuj Vats graced the events. The passion of Chairman Anurag, Project Convener Jayesh, and Team 104 shone through every detail.

A magical moment unfolded when Jeevan Foundation pledged support for 1,000 future FTDE schools — a massive boost to 41 India's mission. With five forces uniting, paanch ungli ban gayi muthi! This project wasn't just an achievement — it was a movement in the making. ■

Acts of Kindness

Manasi Kothari

In a fast-paced world often filled with stress and distraction, random acts of kindness serve as gentle reminders of our shared humanity. These simple gestures—like holding the door open, offering a genuine compliment, or paying for a stranger’s coffee—may seem small, but their impact can be profound. They have the power to brighten someone’s day, restore faith in humanity, and create a ripple effect of goodwill.

What makes random acts of kindness so powerful is their spontaneity and sincerity. They aren’t done for recognition or reward, but simply because someone saw an opportunity to help or spread joy. This authenticity touches people deeply, often more than grand gestures or carefully planned efforts. Kindness, when given freely, encourages others to pass it on, creating a chain reaction that can transform communities.

Moreover, being kind benefits not only the receiver but also the giver. Studies have shown that performing kind acts can boost mental health, reduce stress, and increase feelings of happiness and satisfaction. It fosters empathy, strengthens social bonds, and reminds us that even in moments of hardship, we have the power to make a positive difference.

In a world that can sometimes feel cold or indifferent, these little moments of kindness shine brightly. Whether it’s smiling at a passerby, sharing your umbrella in the rain, or sending a note of encouragement, these acts don’t require much—but they can change someone’s entire day.

Ultimately, random acts of kindness are proof that it doesn’t take much to make the world a better place. One small act at a time, we can create a culture of compassion, connection, and hope—reminding each other that kindness is both timeless and powerful. ■

Random Acts of Kindness: Little Things That Rewire the Brain and Heal the Heart

By Dr. Manjoo Shree,
Chairperson T23, Psychologist &
Resilience Coach

In the realm of psychology, we often focus on trauma, stress, and what breaks the human spirit. But what about what heals it? Kindness — especially the random, unasked-for kind — is not just a moral virtue; it's a powerful psychological tool.

Neuroscience shows that acts of kindness, whether given or received, release feel-good neurotransmitters like dopamine, serotonin, and oxytocin — the very chemicals responsible for boosting mood, lowering stress, and deepening connection.

I recall a moment when a stranger paid for my coffee after I stood fumbling for my missing wallet. The gesture cost him barely anything, but for me — on a chaotic, emotionally heavy day — it was grounding. I felt seen. In that moment, my brain registered safety, not threat.

Another time, I encouraged my househelp's daughter to pursue reading by gifting her a few old storybooks and stationery. Today, she's thriving academically. What I did for her was small, but it rewired something in both of us — for her, a belief in possibilities; for me, the joy of meaningful contribution.

Research calls this the helper's high — when doing good for others enhances our own mental well-being. Witnessing kindness also activates mirror neurons, encouraging empathy and emotional resonance. A young man helping an elderly woman across the street may seem mundane, but to onlookers, it stirs a subtle shift toward trust in humanity.

In a world often dominated by negativity, random acts of kindness are micro-moments of healing. They foster connection, enhance resilience, and create positive emotional memory traces. So, the next time you're kind — without agenda or applause — know this: you're not just helping someone. You're rewiring brains, softening hearts, and quietly reshaping the human experience. ■

Ride to Unity

41er Dayanand, Hyderabad

An Exhilarating Motorcycle
Odyssey Through Nepal's
Mustang Region

By a 41er Rider

For eight days, I embarked on an unforgettable 2,200 km motorcycle expedition through Nepal's stunning Mustang region under the theme "Ride to Unity" — a collaborative initiative by 41ers Riders Club of Round Table India. This cross-border adventure began in Siliguri, India, where I met my six fellow Tabling bikers — strangers at the start, but brothers by the end.

We rode Royal Enfield Himalayan 450cc bikes (mine, a rented one with just under 9,000 km on the odometer). Each rider came from a different part of India, running businesses in textiles, electricals, silks, insulation, and more. That's the beauty of such rides — discovering new terrains and people while rediscovering yourself.

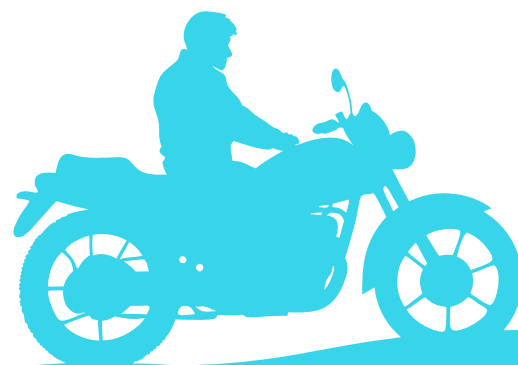

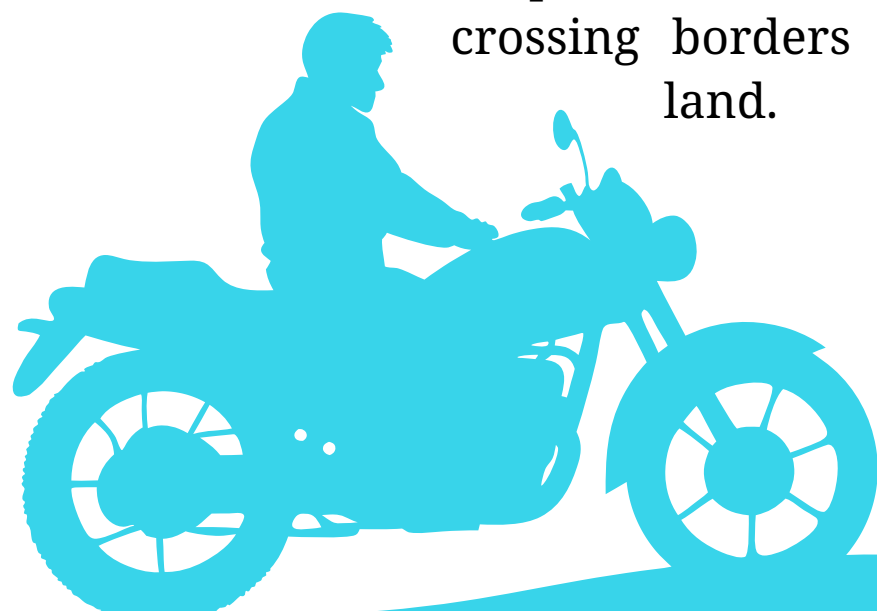

The ride was tough. Over 60% of Nepal's mountain roads were under construction or barely motorable, riddled with loose gravel, landslides, and sharp curves winding through valleys and gorges. It reminded me of my earlier rides through Kashmir and Ladakh — raw, risky, and rewarding.

We rode 7–8 hours a day, often reflecting in solitude within our helmets, racing against wind and gravity with the Himalayas watching silently. Day one tested our patience with unnecessary delays at the border despite having pre-approved permits. Lesson learned: ensure your travel agent is experienced when crossing borders by land.

Once past the Siliguri-Itahari checkpoint, our ride began in earnest. We were warmly welcomed by Nepal Round Table members at various towns — Khakharbitta, Itahari, Bharatpur, and Bardibas. Despite the scorching heat and dusty detours, their hospitality and shared Tabling spirit recharged us.

The Itahari–Bardibas stretch was particularly punishing — under construction, dusty, and slippery with water-sprayed mud. I rode through choking dust clouds, battling road fatigue and minor altitude effects. One of our teammates even had to discontinue and ride in the support vehicle. A backup car, mechanic, and first aid kit proved invaluable.

As night fell, we reached Bardibas after a long and tense ride through forests. Local truck drivers in Nepal were surprisingly cooperative, unlike their Indian counterparts. Stray animals were minimal, and even the few roadkill incidents were respectfully covered — a stark contrast to Indian highways.

We passed through picturesque villages with stilted wooden homes, livestock below, and fruit trees and vegetable gardens around. Life here moved at a peaceful, unhurried pace. Schoolchildren walked long distances, villagers carried heavy loads in baskets, and everyone wore bright smiles that lit up their sun-kissed faces.

At Pokhara, the “Lake City,” we stayed at the scenic Barahi Resort overlooking the snow-capped Annapurna range. After a day’s rest, we rode to Jomsom, battling the worst roads near Beni and arriving well into freezing darkness. Om’s Home, a charming heritage lodge, welcomed us with warm rooms and electric blankets as temperatures dropped to -3°C.

Altitude sickness hit one of our riders, highlighting the importance of our safety-first planning. The next morning’s ride to Mukthinath was magical — a smooth road at 12,500 ft flanked by majestic peaks and dazzling blue skies. The 300-step climb to the temple tested our lungs, but the sight of hundreds of Indian pilgrims — some on horseback or dolis — was heartwarming.

The return ride followed the same route back to Siliguri, but we allowed ourselves a day to recover in Pokhara with massages and spa therapy — much needed after the intense journey.

In retrospect, this ride was more than a physical feat. It tested and built our focus, patience, confidence, and friendships. We bonded over breakdowns, border waits, roadside teas, laughter, dust, cold winds, and shared awe at Nepal's natural beauty.

What made it truly special was the Tabling fellowship — where strangers from different states became trusted companions, united by the open road and a common cause. That's the magic of Round Table: you're never alone, just meeting friends you hadn't met yet.

This ride was exhausting, humbling, and exhilarating. And I'd do it all over again — just for the thrill of the ride, the warmth of fellowship, and the call of the mountains. ■

Saturn Enters

Saturn transit from Aquarius into Pisces & its effects on World Economy

One of the most significant astrological transits has occurred on 29th March 2025 when Lord Saturn transited from Aquarius into Pisces.

Lord Saturn in Vedic Astrology represents - Justice, Judge, hard work, discipline, delay, loneliness, cold, dry, strict teacher, the monk who wanders, disappointments, sorrow, pain, misery, enormous wealth by karma.

As Lord Saturn is transiting into Meen rashi (pisces) and the lord of Pisces is Jupiter, hence the characteristics of jupiter are - Wisdom, enlightenment, our Guru, Mentor, coach, goodness, prosperity, religious deeds and most importantly “dharma”. So, in short the planet of Justice has gone into the planet of dharma”.

Most importantly we must also understand as to what Meen rashi (pisces) or the 12th house of one’s horoscope represents. 12th house is the representation of - expenses, losses, expenditures, charity, end of life, exile, life in foreign lands, obstruction in life, separation from family, going astray, withdrawal into retreat, transcendence, enlightenment , seclusion, imprisonment, pleasures of bed, and sound sleep.

So what will be the effects on business world wide?

As Saturn’s direction is West , you will notice turmoil and turbulence in economies of the Western world. As we all know that, during his second presidency, united States President Donald Trump, enacted a series of steep protective tariffs affecting nearly all goods imported into the united States. Between January and APRIL 2025, THE AVERAGE EFFECTIVE US tariff rate rose from 2.5% to an estimated 27% - the highest level in over a century.

Trump escalated an ongoing trade war with china, raising baseline tariffs on Chinese imports to 145%. In retaliation, china imposed a minimum 125% tariff on US goods and restricted exports of rare earths critical to high tech industries.

Trump also initiated a trade war with Canada and Mexico by imposing a 25% tariff on most goods from both the countries. So, generally you will find Confusion, difference in opinion, losses, high expenditures, and burden on common man due to wrong policies , mostly in the western part of the world.

Another Consequence of this transit , you will notice is that any organisation, Institute or a consortium not following legal compliance and policies may face prosecution or even Imprisonment. Hence it is advisable to the corporate world to relook into their compliance with laws and policies as laid down by their respective governments.

Foreign collaborations are in store for many organisations across the globe. There will be a push in foreign collaborations , associations and mergers.

All business owners should conduct their businesses with a good intent and a large vision . Any business owner who tries to practice fraud, specially in the next 2.5 years , with a malefic intention will be surely exposed and may face harsh legal consequences as the planets of justice and dharma” (religion) both are in play. Next 2.5 years organisations will also need to relook into their CSR policies and must strengthen their contribution to humanity by improvising their internal CSR Policies as 12th house also represents charity (as explained in the beginning of this article).

Dictators in few parts of the world , who rule in the form of tyrants , especially in African countries will face opposition of the masses and may be ousted from their seat of authority. ■
